

Happy Anniversary baobei

Our story... Looking back at it, it seems so unlikely that we ever met and fell in love and yet here we are looking back at the long 3 years behind us, we did our best to hold on to that strong of our warmest and the worst times. It is crazy to think that a random encounter by chance would guide us on such an unforgettable journey of two, what would happen if you weren't so nosy that late evening to stalk Bella's music to find me and what would happen if we never talked on a fateful Monday in January 18th where you were bored at work that day and you wanted to text me and talk about "zodiac signs and true love 🌀" and I oddly enough found comfort in it as no one had spoken to me like that and I was curious about what your dreams were and we hit it off instantly! We had great chemistry but I never wanted to fall in love... yup, the same guy who made this website to ask his girlfriend on Valentine's Day. We sure have come, haven't we? From the verge of breaking up to finding comfort in our toughest times. I was here to watch you graduate and so were you when I finished my degree too, we had letters, playlists, game nights, the sus days and much more which helped us grow together and grow in love because we needed the time, to think, to dream, have space to deal with the overwhelming reality of finding jobs, shitting friends, working hours, doubts of exams, annoying parents but we always had each other and no everyone has that. Ever since we met, I failed Two No Nut Novembers, we broke up twice, I once named you "Streak" on Snapchat, and you introduced me to endless pop music which I would have never known existed, you've changed me, can you believe I never used WhatsApp? That's crazy. I quit League of Legends for two years after I met you, you've changed too! You are no longer as cringe (thanks to me ofc), we had endless nights of listening to music together, we have yet to finish Demon and Fairy and through a completely strange coincidence every time I watch a show or play a game you play to play together, someone magically quits side eye, thanks to me you found one piece and actually watched it with me and hence you don't drool to Bakugou S&M Universe (ew) to zoro Sanji, you even changed my views on bl.. I loved the MCDZs, you also traumatized me with the bitch-club tho.. it's okay tho, we love the same taste in hentai all good! But our story is one of patience, commitment and your fat ass- ahem anyways I don't want to write a long note but I want to say that although we are not a perfect couple at times we listen and confide in each other and that's something special, to have their own, to find our safe place and to have that person is something rare and we have that. For the days that are past us and the days ahead, I hope that I spend the rest of my life loving you 💖

With love,

JJT

Owner of the kitty club

co-partner of your genshin/star rail account

www.asiandream.com